1. Introduction

1.1. Origin of Entrepreneur

- The word "entrepreneur" is derived from the French word "entreprendre" meaning "to undertake."
- "The function of entrepreneurs is to reform or revolutionize the pattern of production by exploiting an invention or an untapped technological possibility for producing a new commodity or an old one in a new way, by opening up a new source of supply of materials or a new outlet for products" (Schumpeter 1976, p. 132).
- An entrepreneur as a person who shifts resources from primary to higher productivity (Say 1971).
- A nation grows wealthy through the division of labor that leads to skill improvement and technological adaptation (Smith 1776).
- Therefore, this paper bases the idea of production on the importance of human capacity in the name of entrepreneurship of the agricultural sector.

The question and answer can be read by all participants. Even in a regular scientific conference held face-to-face, the question and answer session between the speaker and the audience will be open to all participants. With this kind of Internet platform, international conferences can be held to overcome time differences and geographical distances.

Look forward to your active participation!!

Click on "Post a question" and you will see a box to enter your question or comment.

The speaker can reply to the questions and comments on the screen using this system as well.
